A REVENUE PHARISEE.

COMMISSIONER RAUM AND CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

He Covers up the Sins of his Masters by Attacking the Inspector at Petersburg.

NORFOLK, October 22.—Commissioner Raum has written a letter to J. H. VanAuken, inspector of internal revenue at Petersburg, Va., saying he has been informed that Van Auken is exerting his influence for the readjustment or repudiation of the Virginia State debt, which deportment he considers immoral and inconsistent with the dignity of an official, and requests that if such be the fact he will send in his resignation.

Van Auken in his reply claims that he is the only Republican official in Petersburg whose position is unassailable; that he is active in combatting the repudiation movement, and asks for the name of his accuser. Raum replies that the information reached him through a letter written by the Post Master General to the Secretary of the Treasury, the name of the informant not being given.

THE WELDON FAIR.

He returned to work as usual the next morning, evidently believing that she was dead.

EVARTS ON THE STUMP.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE AS A HOWLING DEMAGOGUE.

He Waves the Bloody-Shirt for His Dear Friends Conkling and Cornell and is Followed by Blaine.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Republicans held the largest mass-meeting of the campaign to-night. Hon. Levi S. Morton presided, and after a few preliminary remarks introduced Hon. William M. Evarts, Secretary of State, who was received with tumultuous applause. Mr. Evarts spoke for nearly two hours on the leading issues of the campaign. He called attention to the fact that the approaching election in New York is of National importance, and that it is the duty of all Republicans to know what their action should be. He spoke of the National convention and Presidential election to be held next year, and denounced the idea that it was only State issues which now demanded the attention of the people. There was, he said, a determination on the part of the people to maintain free, and secure equal and universal suffrage, which is the supreme and only authority in this country. The people had not hesitated to spend their wealth and sacrifice their lives when their will, as declared at the polls, had been resisted by military force, and to confer the power and highest honor on the successful leader of their armies, and if suffrage should again be imperiled they would not hesitate once more to entrust with power those who can best maintain their privileges.

Mr. Evarts compared the respective merits of Cornell, Robinson and Kelly, and predicted the success of the Republican candidate for Governor. He declared that the services of the Republicans during the dispute over the last Presidential election were invaluable to the nation, while Mr. Potter and his investigating committee were only deserving of ridicule. Mr. Evarts also spoke at length of the solid South as an element of danger and discord to the country. He denied in strong language that the soldiers had ever been used at the polls for purposes of intimidation. It was a Democratic programme to make mountains out of mole hills. The speaker accused the Democratic party of trying to get possession of the Government for evil purposes, and of encouraging murder and outrage in the South. There could be no peace, he said, until there were free schools, free speech and free suffrage all over the land. If suffrage was not free the people would have no choice but to resist. The secretary praised the Republican party for the skill with which it had solved the financial problems, although opposed by Democrats.

When he mentioned Grant as having vetoed the inflation bill there was great applause, and three cheers were given for Grant as the next President. Mr. Evarts closed by saying that it was the duty of the people to put the Government in the hands of those who love peace and will pursue righteousness. As he retired he was loudly applauded. Senator Blaine next addressed the audience in response to loud calls. He expressed his strong approval of what Secretary Evarts had said. The Democrats were everywhere presenting false issues. The army was not used at the polls but for legitimate duties. There was no intimidation. Blaine also attacked the financial policy of the Democrats. He was cheered to the echo. The meeting adjourned at a late hour. Another meeting will be held next Monday, which will be addressed by Secretary Sherman.

DEATH INSTEAD OF A WEDDING.

Offering to Release Her Promised Husband and then Taking Poison.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 20.—Shepard's Settlement, a little hamlet two miles from Marcellus, furnishes a sad romance with a fatal ending. Flora A. Shepard, granddaughter of Edward Shepard, after whom the place was named, a pretty girl of twenty years, was engaged to be married to Henry A. Fulmer, of Elbridge. The ceremony was to have taken place on Sunday, but when that day arrived Fulmer came and said that he had heard suspicious stories regarding her character, and he asked to have the marriage postponed until he could be assured that the stories were groundless. She offered to release him from the engagement, but he replied that he did not wish to be released. She requested him to go to church with her. He consented, and she went up to her chamber, ostensibly to dress. He waited from one until three o'clock, and then sent her brother up to find out why she did not come back. He said his sister was in bed. He went up to her room and asked her what the matter was. She did not reply, but pointed to a paper on a stand, Fulmer read the paper. It was a will devising her property to a girl friend. He supposed that Flora had taken poison. She confessed to her grandparents that she had eaten a quantity of cobalt. A doctor was called and prescribed for her, but after he left she took another dose of the drug and died at 12 o'clock that night.

The Indian Muddle.

Washington Republican.

Through the manifest incompetency—we will not here allege intended and outright dishonesty on the part of the managers of our Indian policy, but there is much that wears the semblance of duplicity on the part of the guardians of the Indians—they have been prompted to take the war-path, thus involving a deplorable loss of life. We have insisted, and we still insist, that the Government has been the aggressor in the pending troubles, inasmuch as it has failed to keep implicit faith with its own treaties. By treaty it ceded and dedicated to the Indian tribes certain clearly defined tracts or territories of land, which was to be their own for exclusive occupancy, and the Government is pledged in truth and in honor to stand watch and ward over that territory and all the rights guaranteed to them in their occupancy, under the terms of the existing treaties. If it has kept faith in this regard, and has lived up to the terms of the compact entered into with the Indians then it should be exempt so far from censure. Then again, the Government agreed to pay the Indians certain annuities in money and supplies for their support. If it has kept faith in this behalf, then it is not its fault that there are dissatisfaction and war. The Indians claim that their reservations are not preserved in sacredness from the invasion of the whites. Their domain is overrun by prospecting parties of miners and speculators who have planted their covetous eyes thereupon, and are only waiting some favorable opportunity or excuse for despoiling them of their homes and hunting-grounds. In this way they are constantly reminded that their rights are in jeopardy, and that the Government is indifferent as to their preservation.

Is it strange under such circumstances that the Indians should become dissatisfied, restive and even belligerent? Let the tables be turned. Put the white man in his place, and how long could trust and peace be preserved? Not a day beyond the time when the whites could prepare to meet their invaders and trespassers upon the territory dedicated to them by treaty. War would be inevitable until faith could be kept and right should prevail. If the whites occupied these reservations under cession by treaty, we should count them as cowards if they were deserted to themselves by their government if they did not contend for the right even to extermination.

Then, again, history corroborates the allegation that annuities are withheld and supplies fail. And it is not denied by those who are best posted on such matters that when supplies are provided there is a glaring cheat in both quantity and quality. The Indians are defrauded and maltreated at all points, and hence have become restive and warlike—and they would show their want of manhood and independence were it otherwise. They are intelligent beings, and though comparative savages, they have an instinctive and keen sense of right and wrong relating to their own affairs, and cannot always be safely trifled with. And here is where the great responsibility and the grievous wrong comes in on the part of the Government. It fails to keep its faith and faith and protect and preserve the rights and interests of a race over whom it has assumed the duties and obligations of guardianship.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The President's Return—The Cabinet Meeting.

Baltimore Sun, 22d.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The President and Mrs. Hayes and three of their children, after traveling from Columbus all night, reached the White House about 9 o'clock this morning. Considerable preparation had been made for them, the rooms all neatly cleaned, new carpets put down, and the blue and red parlors were profusely adorned with plants and flowers. The President settled down to work very shortly after his arrival, and was soon busily engaged in looking over the mass of correspondence, etc., which had accumulated during his absence. He signed the papers in several appointments, none of them of particular importance. There was quite a crowd of people at the White House, but there were very few politicians among them, and no Maryland or District delegations.

The called meeting was held at the usual time, and the session continued about an hour and a half. General Sherman was present during a part of the time. The Indian troubles were mainly discussed, but no conclusion was reached in that matter. Nothing was done in regard to the important offices at home and abroad which are vacant. Postmaster-General Key informed your correspondent that he did not take to the White House the report of the special agents in the case of Postmaster Tyler. Mr. Key said that the Tyler case was not alluded to by any of those present at the cabinet meeting. This, with other matters, therefore, went over till the next meeting. A number of papers and petitions in reference to the mooted change in the personnel of the District Commission were left at the White House to bear company with a large-sized collection already on hand. Individual applicants and delegations on the same subject will soon be the order of the day. Those who are working up this matter are taking time by the forelock, as the President has no present intention of making any change, if those who are known to be very close to him are at all acquainted with his views. Mr. Sayles J. Bowen, who was made mayor of Washington at the first election after the establishment of negro suffrage, is said to be an applicant. Mr. Bowen's administration as mayor was of such a character that the people of Washington have no desire to see him in official position any more.

Disappearance of the Tramp.

A New York letter says: "One of the most noticeable incidents of the present general improvement in business and industry is the almost total disappearance of street mendicants from the highways and byways. The professional tramp also seems to be a thing of the past. He is well nigh invisible. The commissioners of charity moreover, have fewer applicants for relief than has been the case in many years, and at the police stations the testimony is uniform touching the rapid decrease of after-dark suppliants for lodgings and food. These are important facts. The inference is that all that class of persons are now finding employment, and are in no further need of charity. All the leading manufacturing establishments in and about the city, it is well known, are increasing their hands, and some of them are running until late in the evening to complete orders. The tobacco factories, which employ vast numbers of people of both sexes, are notably busy, so likewise the upholsterers, the plumbers, the cabinet-makers, the boot and shoemakers and the clothing manufacturers. It is a public and private blessing that everybody should thus be at work, and, if the improvement can be maintained on its present basis, we may look forward for a comfortable winter for the working people of every class."

POLITICAL NOTES.

At a Democratic mass-meeting in New Orleans Saturday night, Lieutenant-Governor Wiltz, the candidate for Governor, made a speech promising various reforms which would guarantee the colored people their rights under the law and schools for their children.

Congressman Blackburn, of Kentucky, who has favored Senator Thurman's Presidential aspirations, thinks the Ohio election has effectually disposed of the Senator's chances, and Mr. Blackburn says he is now for Mr. Tilden if he can carry New York, which he thinks he can.

The Boston Pilot notes among other signs of the Grant boom that Washington politicians are on treating terms with Brother Orvil.

One word before the audience disperses. Can any gentleman tell us where rest is to found for the weary? We desire to secure permanent and paying positions for members of the party in Ohio.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Revolutionary Relic.

Charleston News and Courier, 21st.

Workmen digging a dry well in the City Park on Saturday unearthed a cannon ball, the quaint make and antiquated appearance of which indicates that it was in use before or during the Revolutionary war. It is large, spherical in shape, and partly hollow. It evidently had two handles originally, one being broken off.

In the suit of Henry Hoffman and child against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company to recover $25,000 damage in the Superior Court at New York, a verdict has been rendered for $5,000 for plaintiffs. The child lost his right leg, in 1869, by being shoved off one of the company's cars while stealing a ride.

COL. BUTLER'S "HOUNDS."

WITNESSING THE "HUNTING OF THE NEGRO."

How the Bogus Colonel, His Man Sam and the Dogs Astonished the Jersey Germans.

New York World, 19th.

The people who went to the Schutzen Park, at Union Hall, yesterday afternoon were promised by hand bills "a real novelty in this latitude." This novelty the hand-bills went on was a "grand exhibition of twelve Southern bloodhounds trailing runaway negroes." By 3 o'clock a large number of Germans and their families were on the ground and about the lake waiting in a wandering sort of a way to see what the dogs were to do. The bills had also promised in setting forth the good things to be seen and heard that "a full orchestra will discourse elegant classical music." In more exact and matter of fact language five men blew through brass instruments at odd intervals during the performance. Each visitor deposited fifty cents at the gate and received a green ticket which was his passport, as was recorded upon it, to witness the "Hunting of the Negro." The interesting and well-informed hand-bills also said that "Colonel Thomas Butler, of Hamburg, S. C., will illustrate with his highly trained bloodhounds the exciting scene of slave-hunting in the South before the war," and explained:

"Of course the illustration will only be play, but the terror of the fugitives, the capacity of the bloodhounds that unerringly follow upon their tracks and the escape from the dogs at the last moment by climbing beyond their reach, will be portrayed so vividly that it requires no considerable stretch of the imagination to believe the incidents real.

The Colonel was on the green an hour before the starting of the hounds and was willing to speak of his bloodhounds and of his pony, which he rode when hunting negroes, and to tell remarkable stories of what he had done. "Give me a couple o' more tunes and then we will start the dogs," he said as he moved off to the deer paddock where his dogs were lodged. A real negro was in charge of them, and certainly he was dressed shabbily enough for any dog to chase. The bloodhounds were a half-dozen common place pointers that did not object to the fondling by the small boys who crowded around. The dogs were trained to obey the word of the little Colonel and the cow-horn which he used. "Sam," the negro was finally taken from among the dogs and instructed to be pursued so as to lead the pack across the green where the crowd was standing, around the lake and then back to a small tree in front of the beer-stand. The dogs crowded about the gate of the paddock as they saw "Sam" run away through the underbrush. "There he goes," said the crowd, as he came among them, and then a narrow lane was formed for him to pass through. The tooting of the horn told that the alleged bloodhounds were loose and everybody stood ready to run away as the yelping of the brutes was heard. But nobody did run away in alarm when the dogs did actually appear capering here and there in their gladness at being out of the paddock. They paid some attention to the trail but more to the mounted Colonel who rode over the course and whistled the dogs up about him. Around the small pond the clamorous pack went, the negro meantime having stopped near a small tree ready to climb it when the dogs approached. They soon appeared, but instead of rushing along the trail to the foot of the tree, and there "seeking the life-blood of their victim until driven off by the huntsman," as per notice, they ran here and there about the lot for chicken bones and generally did everything to help the escape of the flying slave.

After a time, when the dogs had become tired of running here and there, and Colonel Butler had blown himself red in the face in calling his unruly troops to order, one of the "bloodhounds" passing under the tree was switched on the back by the negro. The intelligent dog looked up and saw his friend "Sam" and began jumping up and barking. The others joined in and soon the pack was about the tree making a great noise, while Sam encouraged them to the best of his ability by making passes at them with his switch. Then the Colonel rode up to the crowd, which formed a close circle about the dogs, and spoke about the strong wind, the crossing of trails, and so on. When he thought the dogs had excited themselves sufficiently he said, "Come down Sam," and Sam dropped to the ground, the dogs crowding about him as an old friend. To further show the unerring instinct of the hounds Sam was started off, and having got a few hundred yards' advantage on a word from the Colonel the pack started. The fugitive returned and got on a low rung of the gymnasium ladder on the green and the dogs, as before, found him after a time and after the small boys in the crowd had helped them by bidding them "sick 'em." The Colonel then gave an exhibition of his horsemanship, dismounting and mounting while the pony was under full gallop. When the dogs were driven back to the paddock it was discovered that two were missing, and Sam, with the cow-horn, went out to hunt the hounds.

News from Liberia.

Charleston News and Courier, 21st.

The Rev. E. Green, pastor of a colored Baptist church at Branchville, has received a letter from the Rev. H. N. Bouey, dated Monrovia, Liberia, September 1st. There is little news in it, the writer complaining of having undergone a protracted and severe attack of fever, which, he says, has kept him "out of his head" for "days at a time." "This fever," he adds, "is always sure to attack your head and spine, or the kidneys, and if you have a diseased head or kidneys, you are sure to find the graveyard. Otherwise, with good attention, fear nothing." He says: "The most of our people settled where there were no civilized people but two widows. When I came I found the natives and our people living to themselves, because they had had a general disagreement, caused by the natives opposing their settling there. I have succeeded in establishing very fine relations with them now, and their children are in both of my schools—Sunday and week day. They come to our church. They trade with us, and we now associate together. When I was down sick the king of this tribe came over to see me with his wife and interpreter, and told them what to do, which relieved me from a fearful pain. The natives are not mean, if you treat them right." The letter states that the writer has found the Baptist to be by far the strongest denomination in Liberia. He says: "A great many of the Azor's people died both before and after landing, but none with the African fever. * * * But thanks to God that the survivors are happy. They have found that corn grows here better than in America, and with one quarter of the work. They plant potatoes any time, and dig and eat all the time." No names or figures whatever are given.

THE NATIONAL FAIR.

Arrangements for the Industrial Procession.

Washington Republican, 21st.

The work of preparing for the big fair still goes bravely on, and everybody connected with the Fair Association has business enough to keep them employed for several weeks to come. The office of the association, No. 493 Pennsylvania avenue, was crowded all day yesterday with exhibitors and applicants for space, the result at night showing that nearly all the available room in both the large buildings had been utilized. It was expected that a number of articles would have been received at the Main Building yesterday, and several officers of the Association were on the grounds all day waiting to assign them to their proper places. None were received, however, and the workmen were thus given an opportunity to clear away all the debris in the room, which at 7 o'clock last evening was locked up until this morning, when its doors will be thrown open to exhibitors. All the work on this building is now complete, and the interior, with its pretty tints, blue, gold and red, presents a very attractive appearance. The walls have been kalsomined a light pink, and it can safely be asserted that no such fair hall exists in this country. An army of mechanics and laborers are engaged on the other buildings, Grand Stand, grounds, etc., and it is confidently expected that Saturday will find everything completed. Machinery Hall will be opened to-morrow for exhibits, and the roof of the Art Gallery is nearly finished. A large reservoir, holding 47,000 gallons of water, has been built near the Patterson-avenue entrance, which is supplied with water from five springs situated in different portions of the grounds. The water is then distributed over the grounds through four-inch terra-cotta pipes, pumps being located near the stables, Grand Stand and Main Building. Colonel L. P. Wright has superintended this work, and much credit is due him for the energy displayed.

White Children of Negro Parents.

Wilmington Review.

In the Southeastern portion of this city there live two Albino children who were born of negro parentage. Their parents, Squire and Eveline Fisher, have lived in this city for a number of years and have a family of seven children, the Albinos being the fourth and fifth born to them. The others are of the same color as their parents. The eldest of the Albinos is a girl about six years of age, and the youngest a boy of about four. They are well formed and differ only in looks from their darker brothers and sisters. Their skin is white with a pinkish tinge. The pupils of their eyes are a light blue and have also a pinkish cast. They keep their eyes almost closed and carry their heads down, the chin resting on the breast. The hair is perfectly white and looks more like the wool on a sheep's back than any thing we can compare it with. Their habits and amusements are the same as other children while their mental qualities seem to be of the average of white children.

Two Hotels.

Charlotte Observer, 22d.

It is learned here that as the result of the destruction of the Atlantic Hotel by the storm at Beaufort last summer two new hotels will in all probability be put up, the one on the Morehead side of the sound and the other on the Beaufort side, both of which will excel in architecture and appointments any seaside resort ever built on the North Carolina coast. The Beaufort house, according to the present proposition, will be built on the property of Capt. R. D. Graham, of this city, not far from the spot where the Atlantic Hotel stood. The building will be done by companies, and we are informed that already part of the money has been subscribed. Two good hotels will make Morehead City and Beaufort the most popular resort on the South Atlantic coast.

Serenading Simpson.

Charlotte Observer, 22d.

Governor Simpson, of South Carolina, arrived in the city yesterday morning from the North, whither he went to attend the meeting of Governors of the original thirteen States in Philadelphia. He was the guest of General John A. Young, and last night the Hornets' Nest Riflemen went to General Young's residence in a body and tendered the distinguished Governor a serenade. In response he made the company a neat little speech, thanking them for the honor done him and his State, and referring appropriately to the ties which held together the Carolinas.

Even a Third Crop.

Charlotte Observer, 22d.

There have been second growths this year of many kinds of fruit, but it has remained for a pear tree on the premises of Mr. M. P. Pegram, of this city, to put itself beyond the reach of all competition. This tree is now bearing its third crop of pears for this year. The tree blossomed in the spring and the fruit formed, but frost fell and the forms fell to the ground. Another crop came on later, matured and was utilized. After this passed away there came a third crop, and this is now hanging on the tree. The pears of this third crop vary in size from a hickory-nut to a walnut, but they are green and hard and two months of sunshine and freedom from frost would hardly suffice to bring them to perfection. For all that they are pears and not bad-sized pears, either.

A Mere Genial Scuffle.

Atlanta Constitution.

The editor of the Washington Post says that any man who can draw a check for $2,000,000 is entitled to the respect of the American people. This is true. It is one of the strong points of our Uncle Samuel J. Tilden, and as the prospects now are that the campaign in 1880 is to be a mere genial scuffle on the part of the Democrats to see which will have the most fun, we propose that our Uncle Samuel and his $2,000,000 check be put in nomination.

Yazoo.

Vicksburg Herald (Dem.).

The Northern stalwarts need not shout much more about the Yazoo affair: We have reliable information that the independent ticket will carry the county by a large majority.

How Great Men Die.

Since the death of Speaker Kerr and Senator Morton, of Bright's Disease, it has been noticed and noted that a large number of our public men and leading business men die too early from the same or a similar cause. By using Warner's safe Cure, their diseases will be cured, and their valuable lives prolonged. The time is coming when, because of this remedy, no one will die of such diseases as Bright's and Diabetes.

THE BOSS INTRODUCER.

MARK TWAIN TAKES POSITION IN POLITICS.

He Appears on the Platform at a Republican Meeting and Introduces General Joe Hawley.

It has been stated that "Mark Twain" was to take the stump for the Republicans in the State campaign in New York, but it seems that the extent of his work in that line has been to take the platform of a Republican meeting at Elmira and vouch, in his peculiar style, for the character of General Hawley, the orator of the occasion. This is what he said, according to the New York Times' report:

"I see I am advertised to introduce the speaker of the evening, General Hawley, of Connecticut, and I see it is the report that I am to make a political speech. Now, I must say this is an error. I wasn't constructed to make stump speeches, and on that head (politics)

I HAVE ONLY THIS TO SAY:

First, see that you vote. Second, see that your neighbors vote. Lastly, see that yourself or neighbor doesn't scratch the ticket. General Hawley was President of the Centennial Commission. He was a gallant soldier in the war. He has been Governor of Connecticut, member of Congress, and was President of the convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln."

General Hawley—That nominated Grant.

Twain—He says it was Grant, but I know better. He is a member of my church at Hartford and the author of "Beautiful Snow." May be he will deny that. But I am only here to give him a character from his last place. As a pure citizen, I respect him; as a personal friend of years, I have the warmest regard for him; as a neighbor whose vegetable garden adjoins mine, why—why, I watch him. That's nothing; we all do that with any neighbor. General Hawley keeps his promises not only in private but in public. He is an editor who believes what he writes in his own paper. As the author of "Beautiful Snow," he has added a new pang to winter. He is broad-souled, generous, noble, liberal, alive to his moral and religious responsibilities. Whenever the contribution-box was passed I never knew him to take out a cent. He is a square, true, honest man in politics, and I must say he occupies

A MIGHTY LONESOME POSITION.

He has never shirked duty or backed down from any position taken in public life. He has been right every time, and stood there. As Governor, as Congressman, as a soldier, as the head of the Centennial Commission, which increased our trade in every port and pushed American production into all the known world, he has conferred honor and credit upon the United States. He is an American of Americans. Would we had more such men! So broad, so bountiful in his character that he never turned a tramp empty handed from his door, but always gave him a letter of introduction to me. His public trusts have been many, and never in the slightest did he prove unfaithful. Pure, honest, incorruptible, that is Joe Hawley. Such a man in politics is like a bottle of perfumery in a glue factory—it may modify the stench if it doesn't destroy it. And now, in speaking thus highly of the speaker of the evening, I haven't said any more of him than I would say of myself. Ladies and gentlemen, this is General Hawley."

Mr. Clemens was frequently interrupted by applause and laughter. At the close of his remarks, General Hawley stepped forward and, for an hour and a half, spoke on the issues of the day.

THE INDIAN WAR.

The Cause being the Killing of Chief Colorow.

A story in the Denver Tribune indicates that the outbreak of the Utes may have been prompted by more serious provocation than the ploughing of a piece of ground by Agent Meeker. The Tribune tells the story at length, and apparently does not see any grave side to it, but it lets in a flood of light upon the manner in which peaceful Indians are treated by lawless frontiersmen. In brief, the statement is that an old Ute chief named Colorow gave notice to a trespassing miner to "get out" within one day. Colorow went away after giving the warning. The miner borrowed a gun and, accompanied by a party of fellow trespassers, started in haste, presumably in pursuit of Colorow. On his return the miner at first acknowledged that he had killed the chief, but afterward said that he had shot an elk. Colorow has since been missing, and there seems to be no doubt that he has been murdered. The supposed murderer has not even been arrested.

The Burkhead-Gale Marriage.

Mr. William G. Burkhead and Miss Dixie Gale were yesterday, at 3:20 A. M., united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. S. Burkhead, father of the bridegroom, from the Edenton Street Methodist Church. A large concourse of friends and admirers of the happy pair had assembled to witness the pleasant and joyous event, whose hearty congratulations were offered at the conclusion of the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Burkhead then boarded the 3:49 western bound train for the home of the bridegroom. They have many friends in this city whose expressed wishes for a cloudless sky for them through this vale of tears are prompted only by the purest of motives.

The bridegroom is a son of the Rev. Dr. Burkhead, now Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District, and twice the pastor of the Edenton Street Methodist Church of this place. The bride is the only sister of Lieutenant Gale, U. S. Army, who was present upon this happy and pleasant occasion.

The following were the waiters:

Mr. A. D. Brooks and Miss Alice Burkhead, Lieutenant Edward Gale and Miss Lottie Thomas, Mr. E. Hackney and Miss Ruth Pendleton, Mr. A. W. Haywood and Miss Maggie Smith, Mr. C. W. Burkhead and Miss Hattie Lilly, Mr. John Devereux and Miss Lucy Allen, Mr. V. C. Tabb and Miss Nelly Young.

A Wise Deacon.

"Deacon Wilder, I want you to tell me how you kept yourself and family well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors visiting us so often."

"Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in time; kept my family well and saved the doctor bills. Three dollars' worth of it kept us well and able to work all the time. I'll warrant it has cost you and the neighbors one to two hundred dollars apiece to keep sick the same time."

"Deacon, I'll use your medicine hereafter."

DAILY NEWS

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1879.

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

SENATOR KELLOGG is remarkably frank in his expressions. He is of the opinion that "money, if attainable, will elect the Republican candidate for Governor of Louisiana."

A REPUBLICAN Congressman stated in Washington on Tuesday that in the opinion of the State Republican committee of New York, Mr. Kelly's vote outside the cities of New York and Brooklyn will not exceed six thousand. Democratic politicians claim that Governor Robinson will get five times that many Republican votes.

It would appear that with the end of the Ohio election the "Southern Outrage" mills have closed, with the single exception, perhaps, of the New York Tribune, which journal keeps on grinding even if it has no customers. The Republicans think that stuff enough of this sort has been turned out and that it is time to go to work in a rational manner if they wish to accomplish anything in the South. Senator Kellogg virtually gives the lie to the Northern press which has been so busy iterating and reiterating assertions of danger to life and limb of Southern Republicans for choosing to exercise their inherent right in the matter of politics when he states that he will go to New Orleans in a few days and enter upon campaign work in Louisiana. He will speak in the tier of parishes on the Teche—St. Landry, St. Mary's, St. Martin's and Iberia, "the dark and bloody ground"—and other prominent Republicans will also go upon the stump. It will be remembered that the constitutional convention provided for an entire new deal in the offices, vacating every office in the State with the single exception of State treasurer. The policy of the Republicans, as outlined by Senator Kellogg, will be to make good nominations all around, and confine them to white men, men of character and influence, whose names will be sufficient to draw out the colored vote. He says there will be no difficulty about this, as there is a great deal of dissatisfaction with the regular organization of the Democratic party. He does not expect the Republican candidate for Governor to be elected, although he thinks money, if attainable, would do it. The Republicans had in the last Legislature more than forty members, and many of them were colored men. By such nominations as are spoken of he thinks the Republicans can increase their membership in the Legislature very considerably.

A PERILOUS EXPEDITION.

The Tribune is out with another blood-curdling romance relative to lawlessness in North Carolina. This time it is one Graham, an artist who was engaged to illustrate Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis' articles that are to appear in Harper's Magazine. Of the dangers, seen and unseen, that he encountered; the hair-breadth 'scapes that he underwent, pen cannot write nor can tongue tell. But one thing is certain, if he wields as facile a pencil as he does a pen we shall have lots of good pictures in the forthcoming numbers, even if they are not true to life. But we fail to understand how it is that, while the artist barely escaped with his life, Mrs. Davis passed through these perils unscathed. We have never heard of her being killed, or maltreated, or threatened in any manner; and yet she must have traveled about to some extent in order to glean the necessary material for her articles. It is not for a moment to be supposed that she sat in her room manufacturing descriptions out of whole cloth, as do the dime novel writers attached to the Tribune's staff, otherwise her work would fall flat. And besides we are bound to believe the lady's word that they are written from personal knowledge. Frank Taylor, while sketching for Harper's Weekly last summer—and by the way we would like to have taken him by the hand for old friendship's sake—returned safe and sound from that wild country and its desperate inhabitants, although he did burlesque the "moonshiners," as well as other things. The wilds of Buncombe and Jackson and other counties were traveled several years ago by the artists engaged on "Picturesque America," Messrs. Fenn, Waud and Davis, we believe, so an artist could not altogether be a strange sight; but from Mr. Graham's statement one is led to believe that an artist carries no individualfty about him.

But the idea of "moonshiners" mistaking this scary individual for a revenue officer is the most ridiculous thing ever given out to the Northern people. There are plenty of "moonshiners" in the State, it is true, and they are fighters; there are plenty of revenue officers, and they are also fighters—or else what becomes of the stories of the terrible combats that take place almost daily between the law-officers and the law-breakers? vide Tribune.

The gentlemen spoken of above have never in their artistic saunterings met with anything of the nature so graphically described by Mr. Graham, otherwise we might have learned of it ere this. It has been reserved for a new discoverer; an heroic adventurer, a rival, in fact, of Baron Munchausen to unearth this dreadful horde of bandits and see them in their everyday life, and especially while they are in their pleasantest mood. Look at the following, it has an Italian tinge with Fra Diavolo and his followers in the foreground:

In the evening the other men tethered their horses near the camp, and lay around on the grass smoking. None of them spoke to me, except the one who came into the tent. After supper he started to leave the tent, but had not gone more than a few paces when he turned and deliberately fired two shots at me with his revolver. I took up a repeater rifle with which Messrs. Harper had provided me, but seeing the other men getting on their feet, refrained from using it.

"What did that man shoot for?" I asked. No one answered for a while and at length one said, "Cos he knows no better," at which they all laughed.

He "refrained from using it!" and to be mistaken for a revenue officer! No "moonshiner" would make such a mistake as that. The battle would have been commenced long before that.

Yet this hero never lost his nerve; he was ready to do or die:

The men continued to watch us wherever we went, and the guide got scared and refused to remain with me, or I should have gone ahead into the Indian reservation. I met with several incidents of a similar character, and you can have no idea of the danger—well, not exactly danger, but continual annoyance that I have been subjected to.

When Mr. Graham was asked by the interviewer if he thought they really intended violence to him, he replied:

I don't know. They seemed principally desirous of scaring me, and to some extent I must admit that they succeeded. I would rather fight a Sioux Indian any time than one of these "moonshiners"; they are so mean and cowardly. They lie in ambush day and night and might take a pop at one any time. Whenever they hear of a stranger they suspect him of being an officer, and thirty or forty farmers will at once lie in ambush and dodge him from place to place. I heard of a great many having been killed in this way.

Graveyards must be thick and pretty well-filled out in Jackson. If this state of things continues a year or two longer the farmers will have to emigrate and the State fence in the county for a public cemetery.

Mr. Graham then goes on with the oft-repeated rigmarole about political persecutions, gathered from hearsay, and then the champion liar breaks out again and controverts his previous statements. In speaking of some alleged political murders he says:

I could name the places and the persons in some cases, but I should object to doing so, because the Tribune is read down there and it would lead to trouble. Several Republicans mentioned to me that they thought of leaving the South, not because their business was not prosperous, but because of the contemptuous treatment they received from Southerners. One man at Webster, who as a sawmill and as much work as he can manage, says he shall leave this year in consequence of threats that have been made against him. Knowing that I represented a New York paper, some of the Democrats were very kind to me. It was common for them to say: "Here, boys, this newspaper fellow is from the North, and Nast and the Tribune will give us h— when he gets back.

In regard to the Walhalla murder, of which you had a long account, a leading Democrat introduced me to the crowd at the hotel, after this manner: "Now, gentlemen, here is Mr. Graham, from the North, and can write this thing up for us. You see, Mr. Graham, that the Northern people have an idea that the man was shot because he was a Republican. It was nothing of the sort; simply a little scrimmage about some property. The man did have some influence with the negroes at one time, but at the time he was shot he had no influence so far as the Republican party was concerned, and it is absurd to say he was shot for that."

I had not troubled my head about the affair, but its being pressed upon me in this manner led me to make a few inquiries, and from the statements of the Democrats themselves, I feel convinced that the man was shot to get rid of him because he had influence.

If the people are of the nature he represents them to be we will venture the assertion that the Tribune isn't very widely circulated in that section.

How the Tribune is to reconcile Mr. Graham's statement with the fact that many Northern men have purchased farms in the State, and others are looking for suitable locations; that the head of the Northern immigration bureau, a Northern man himself, advises Northern farmers to come and settle here, is one of the unexplained mysteries.

Imperialism the Game.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Republicans jubilantly announce that henceforth they propose to fight under the symbol "N"—the same device which appeared on the plate and note-paper of the authors of the first and second French empires. Imperialism is the confessed Republican game.

Thurman Has Not Gone Yet.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The recent campaign in Ohio cost the Democrats their ablest leader in the Senate. There is no man now on the Democratic side in that body who can take Thurman's place as a debater with such Republicans as Blaine and Conkling.

Reading the Riot Act to Foster.

Cincinnati Gazette.

Foster was elected Governor, and he will serve out his term if he lives. That is the way the people who voted for him understood it, and the contract must be observed. Charlie Foster, therefore, can not be counted in the Senatorial race.

Democratic Sentiment in Ohio.

Columbus Democrat.

In case the Democracy carry New York in November, Samuel J. Tilden will be master of the situation, and will stand at the head of the list of candidates for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Determined to Have Peace.

Atlanta Constitution.

We hear some well-defined rumors of a movement to make Grant the nominee of the South. The movement, it is said, is not a political one. Its object is, by nominating Grant and offering him support in the assumption of extraordinary powers, to utterly break down all the barriers of sectionalism and leave no room for prejudice and slander. In other words, there are those at the South who, hopeless of any contest based upon constitutional grounds, are ready and anxious to forestall and reap the political results of the centralism toward which Republicanism is hurrying the country; and it may be said that there is more hope than of hopelessness in the idea. One thing is certain, whatever happens or fails to happen, the business and commercial interests of the South are determined to have peace.

A Valued Relic.

Charleston News and Courier, 21st.

The Palmetto Guard have received from Mr. Edward S. Abraham, formerly of South Carolina, but now of Savannah, a silver medal presented to one of the members of the Palmetto Regiment of this State during the Mexican war. It has been in the possession of Mr. Abraham's family for a long time, but they considered that it would be more appropriate under the guardianship of a representative South Carolina company, and therefore committed it to the care of the Palmettoes.

Georgia Coal.

Augusta News.

A number of capitalists have gone up to the seventeen mile post, on the Georgia Road, to inspect the Richmond county coal deposits on the land of Miss Lucy J. Read, and recently brought to public notice by Prof. Bibikov. It is proposed to form a stock company for the working of this coal, and for the inspection of the coal the visitors have gone up. The Evening News captured a special engineer in the act of prizing out a lump of coal that, but for the sudden breaking off, might have measured a score of feet around, and in answer to the question how much more there was left, thus delivered himself; "I tell you, sir, God was lavish of it up here. It's spread in four layers all over the ground and tilted up on the side of a hill, so that the stuff can be taken out in thousand pound lumps, if you want it. Just look, sir, at the side of that hill. I cut them four layers out myself, and there's more at the bottom if the water was only drained off a few feet into that ravine so that I could work her. I tell you it's here!" And the old fellow glanced over the lump he had broken off with as much pride as if it were pure gold and he owned the whole mine. It is hoped that this coal will be utilized, for it is worked very easily and burns well, as has been testified by Professor Bibikov and Major A. H. McLaws. Let the company be formed, and let our firesides glow with the warmth and light extracted from Georgia coal.

Singular Accident to a Train.

Charlotte Observer, 22d.

A very singular accident happened to the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta passenger train as it came in yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. As the engine passed over the frog of the switch it jumped the track, and striking the side track ran along on the cross-ties of this for a distance equal twice its length and then mounted the rail. So when the train was stopped by application of the air brakes, the engine—all the wheels of it—was on the side track, the cars on the main track, and the tender of the engine between the two tracks. In all the confusion and changing around of things, nothing was broken and no one was hurt.

Novel Mining Operations.

Charleston News and Courier, 21st.

Yesterday workmen were engaged in tearing down the old stalls on the south side of the vegetable market, preparatory to the erection of some improved ones. Where the dust and sweepings have collected for years under the flooring, quite a large amount of money was found in small coins. As the spadefuls of this enriched earth were thrown out by the workmen, there was a general scramble by a crowd of urchins that had collected, scenting the prey from afar, and the piles were eagerly and frequently successfully searched.

An exchange says: A one-armed negro boy in Augusta has saved four persons from drowning. This is nothing, however, for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has saved thousands from consumption.

VEGETINE.

Behold Me a Well Woman.

CANCER.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family depencent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with half a dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live! and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. FULLER SUTT.

I write this to certify that I have known Mrs. Fuller Sutt from childhood, and have seen the hours of agony, that her patient womanhood has been called upon to endure. She has suffered untold agonies and now sits beside me in perfect health with her child upon her knee. The prayers of this grateful woman will ever be yours, my noble sir, and we add our testimony to the thousands that favor the greatest of all modern discoveries, "Vegetine."

Yours respectfully,

Piles, Rheumatism.

GOODMAN, MISS., May 6, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered considerably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

Yours respectfully,
J. W. TAGGART.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I take great pleasure in recommending your Vegetine. I have been suffering for a long time with the Lung Disease; trying every kind of medicine that I could get, but none seemed to do me any good, until I tried your great Vegetine remedy. I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. I don't consider that your medicine has its equal, for the diseases which you propose to cure, especially the disease that I have been afflicted with

LIVER PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

Love's Call.

Shy tender stars sedate and sweet
Round weary Earth's pale pillow press
Night cloaks her at the golden feet,
And they are shod with silentness.

Traced in a weird colossal dream,
The mountains shadowy arms outfling;
Around the silent forests gleam
And every leaf is listening.

What distant call? What sudden-stirred
Echoing thrill from breast to brow?
Was it the nightingale I heard?
Or was it, best beloved, thou?

—Chamber's Journal.

"Girls will be girls." You're right. And lots of them that we know will be old maids, unless they mend their ways and turn their attention to something else besides gadding the streets and giggling at every little male specimen of humanity in a stylish suit of clothes that he owes the tailor for yet.

It is a matter of interest that out of the fifty-one successful women candidates at the recent matriculation examination of London University only seven had been trained to private study; and of the remainder only three were trained in private schools.

Two hundred and five girls have received the benefit of the Boston Industrial School. They are orphans adopted by the institution and are trained for the service by the ones in charge. Nearly all are prosperous and happy and many homes are brighter to-day for the presence of those who were once in the wards of this school.

Since these large white surcingle vests came into use among ladies, it makes a very bashful young man blush whenever he comes upon a young lady suddenly. Young Joe saw one for the first time yesterday, and blushing to the roots of his hair, whispered, "Miss, ex—excuse me, but you've got your corset on the outside."

The Burlington Hawkeye remarks with characteristic frankness that the peculiar sensation which melts into a man's soul and meanders down his spinal column when a black-eyed beauty whispers something particularly and peculiarly soft in his ear, is only equaled by the sensation which explores him when, in purchasing a ham, he lays down a $5 counterfeit note, and receives $3.35 in change.

Women's rights are well established in the Candahar district judging from the customs of the Waziris, a tribe in the neighborhood of the Pishin Valley, and against whom the British will probably undertake a campaign next cold season. The fair sex are not only exempt from all kinds of labor, but it is their duty to make offers of marriage. Thus the Waziris lady sends a hairpin to the chosen one, requesting that with it he will pin a handkerchief to his cap. If her affection is returned the request is fulfilled, and as the gentleman fastens the love token he publishes the lady's name and is obliged to marry her forthwith.

Come out into the garden, love,
Where perfume fills the air;
I'll gather the fairest blossoms, love,
To deck your sunny hair.

Oh, no, dear George, she sadly sighed,
I can't enjoy such blisses;
Ma says I must stay in the house
And wash the supper dishes.

Cuticura
THE GREAT SKIN CURE,

The most Healing, Soothing and Refreshing External Application in the World.

It rapidly heals Ulcers, Old Sores, and Discharging Wounds; Itching Piles and other Itching affections that have been the torture of a lifetime, thus affording unspeakable gratification to thousands; Burns, Scalds, Wounds and Fester; all Itching and Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and all Affections of the scalp, including Loss of Hair. Nothing like it has ever been known to the most intelligent physicians. It has swept a host of poisonous remedies out of existence. It is revolutionary in its composition and mode of treatment and succeeds in curing every external affection. At every stage it is ably assisted by CUTICURA SOAP, which is a part of itself medicinally and at the same time the most delightfully fragrant and refreshing Toilet, Bath, and Nursery Soap in existence.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful purifying agent and liver stimulant, should be taken to neutralize and resolve away blood poisons, caused by the virus of scrofula, cancer, canker, malarial or contagious diseases, which maintain and foster diseases of the skin and scalp.

SALT RHEUM.

Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER—Gentlemen: Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great, very great, comfort I have received from the use of your CUTICURA.

For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum.

For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to me.

I have used everything in the shape of medicine, both external and internal, but with no effect.

My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try CUTICURA.

I tried it, and to it was as if a miracle had been performed, for I will take my oath that in three applications my hands were as smooth as a new-born babe's.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who know of my case, among whom there may be some one similarly afflicted, and if so I would earnestly advise him to give CUTICURA a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,
A. D. BAKER, Ticket Agent C. S. R. R.

Tetter or Salt Rheum

On the hands cured. A greatful letter.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER—Gentlemen:—Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter or Salt Rheum, I spent many a hard-earned dollar. I was given a trial of your UTICURA, and, thank God, my hands are well. I never had anything do me good like that.

You may put this in the paper and welcome, and may it do some other poor sufferer the same good it has done me! I am well known here, having lived here almost fifteen years and kept boarders for a living, and sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up altogether with my sore hands, and having a small family to take care of; but oh! thank God, my hands are well, so I again return thanks.

Yours respectfully,
ELIZABETH BUKLEY.
LITTLETON, N. H., May 30, 1878.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and are for sale by all Druggists. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

DAILY NEWS

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1879.

Entered at the Postoffice at Raleigh, N. C., as second-class matter.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.

For the South Atlantic States light rains; northeast to southeast winds, with slight changes in temperature and pressure.

Index to New Advertisements.

YEARGAN, PETTY & Co—Dry Goods.
H. C. RAY—Notice.
C. D. UPCHURCH—Court notice.
ALFRED WILLIAMS—Local notice.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Revenue receipts $5,649.06.

——Everybody is getting married.

——Dull, dreary, disagreeable weather.

——Col. Wharton J. Green is at the Yarboro.

——Col. L. W. Humphrey was in the city yesterday.

——There is a regular sea of cotton in the Baptist Grove.

Cotton has advanced in price every day for the past four.

—— No old bonds and no drummers' licenses yesterday.

——A good many Raleighites will be in Salisbury to-day.

——The steady advance in the price of cotton stiffens business.

——Quite a contrast—this week and last, weather and everything.

——Davis, of the Torchlight, is in the city, stopping at the Yarboro.

——The funeral of a colored person took place yesterday afternoon.

——Lem Shaw was yesterday released from durance vile by Justice Watts.

——Never before was the Raleigh cotton merchant so busy like as he is now.

——Miss D. F. Tucker of this city has a letter to her address, box 23, held for postage.

——The time for the colored people's fair approacheth and they are expecting a huge time of it.

——It is said that there will soon be another livery stable in Raleigh, which is to be run on the largest scale of any of them.

——O! this town is so city-like. Cows, geese, etc., roaming the principal streets, exert a tendency to impress strangers with this idea.

——Justice Barbee yesterday joined in the holy bonds of wedlock, Abram Stanley and Lucy Lanier, both colored. And another is added to the list.

——He had protracted his Fair-week spree so long that he caved in, and the Mayor furnished him with apartments in the station house for twelve hours free of charge.

——Bessie Darling will be in Charlotte on December 6th. Don't stop there, but come to Raleigh also; a good theater is enjoyed and well patronized here.

——Dime party to-morrow night in a vacant store on Fayetteville street, given by the ladies of the Second Presbyterian church. Be sure and attend.

——T. F. Pescud, Jr., Esq., is spending a while in the city, resting from quite an extended tour through the Southern States for his insurance companies.

——There are a number of broken down horses in this city, the outgrowth of the late Fair. These poor horses were driven very hard all last week and it is but natural that they should be tired out.

——The Register of Deeds yesterday issued five or six marriage licenses. Truly it seems as though the whole world was going to marry, but—well it's a good thing anyway for all concerned.

——Mr. William Woollcott has had his store extended so that it now runs through to Harget street. Mr. Woollcott is one of our most thorough-going business men and is bound to succeed.

——A goat and a negro boy had a tussle yesterday afternoon on Fayetteville street. After a considerable struggle the boy won, receiving the admiring cheers of a number of sympathetic "gamius" who had been attracted to the novel scene of action.

——Sheriff J. J. Hasty, of Union county, yesterday lodged nine more convicts with the penitentiary authorities. All colored, save one, and all sentenced for one year each except the white man who goes for eighteen months.

——Master Henry Manly, son of Dr. L. C. Manly of this city, who has for several years been page in the United States Senate, returned home last night on a short visit to his family. He has been on duty during the summer with two of the committee appointed by the last Congress. Henry was always quick, bright and polite and has enviable success in his new field of labor among strangers.

For the Winter Evenings.

These are long evenings and after tea we all want some good book to read for an hour or two. The most entertaining and popular new books are "Cæsar," price $2.50; General Taylor's Book," price $2.00; "Moore's History of North Carolina," price $1.00; and "Memoir of S. S. Prentiss, price $2.50. Sold by Alfred Williams & Company, Raleigh.

Yeargan, Petty & Co.

From cellar to garret the store of this popular firm is packed with new fall and winter goods too varied in style, quality and prices to be enumerated or even hinted at outside the limits of their regular advertisement which appears in this morning's issue of the NEWS. Mr. Yeargan, the senior member, a gentleman possessing the necessary skill and judgment requisite for an understanding purchaser, has been in the New York markets for a month or more making his selections, and the result is that the three floors of their building now hold the fruits of his labors. Nothing more need be said.

The Hood Family.

A week or more since the NEWS acknowledged the reception of a photograph of this interesting family, copies of which were intended for sale, the proceeds to be added to the fund now being raised for their future maintenance and education. There was nothing attached thereto intimating the price at which they were disposed of. Since then the subjoined from W. R. Lyman, Esq., chairman of the Hood Relief Committee has been received which explains itself:

NEW ORLEANS, October 15, 1879.—The "Hood Relief Committee" announce to the public that Mr. Theodore Lilienthal, a photograph artist of this city, has succeeded in grouping an admirable picture of the family of the late General John B. Hood, which he has generously placed at the disposal of the committee for the benefit of the permanent fund, to educate and maintain the surviving children, reserving for himself only sufficient to cover the cost of production.

It is the belief of the committee that nearly every Southern household will desire to possess a copy of this interesting family group, and therefore the price has been put within the reach of all. Three sizes will be published.

The first—an elegantly finished picture, 11x14, price, $5.00
The second—medium size, 6½x8½, " 1.00
The third—Cabinet or Imperial size, " 50

In order to create as large a fund as possible from this source, by avoiding the payment of commissions on sales, the NEWS will receive orders and forward the money free of charge. A specimen of the smaller size may be seen at the drug store of Pescud, Lee & Company, corner of Fayetteville and Martin streets.

"Don't Know Half Their Value."

"They cured me of Ague, Biliousness and Kidney Complaint, as recommended. I had a half bottle left which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them one night if I had not given them Hop Bitters. They did them so much good I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Hop Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough."—B., Rochester, N. Y. See other column.

Impression.

It is generally supposed by physicians and the people generally that Dyspepsia can not invariably be cured, but we are pleased to say that Green's August Flower has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms, such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick Headache, palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, &c. Out of the 50,000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from druggists of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all druggists. *

VEST POCKET CURE
25¢ DYSPEPSIA 25¢
CLERGY & DOCTORS TESTE.

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C. I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.) It is indorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va. Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, LL. D., Col. Va. It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people It is excellent for indigestion and flatulent colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Cont. About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va. I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va. It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate. This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists. In Raleigh, by
